What have I been doing since high school?

After my three year stint as Drum Major on scholarship at the University of Houston, I started my career in the travel industry in 1973, working continuously in that industry ever since, having worked with two major airlines and now car rental. I've lived in the Seattle, Washington area, the Minneapolis/St. Paul area of Minnesota, Dallas/Fort Worth, and now the "wine country" of Northern California (what the heck took me so long to get here!). Working in this industry has provided me with an opportunity to travel with my family to many parts of the country and around the world, experiencing different cultures, sights, and sounds. I've been married for almost twenty-eight years to the same gal, have two girls one just graduated in May from Colorado State University; the other just finished her first year at the University of Oregon.

Retirement for me most likely will not be until I'm fifty-nine + and, unless the housing market changes dramatically out here between now and then, it will require me to relocate elsewhere, most likely anywhere east of California! I've really enjoyed reacquainting myself with many of my Channelview friends and classmates during the last few years...something I missed out on since graduation, relocations and world travels. My brother, Bill, lives not far away in Portland, Oregon; and my sister Kathy lives in Liberty, TX. Who am I, I am Homer Laird.
